

One customer can buy several tickets >

a ticket can only be for one movie screening > each movie can be shown at 0 to many screens >

each screening room has a capacity (ticket) limit, each movie is shown x number of times a day > each customer can order 0-many items from the consession stand > the consession stand will have a variety of possible items from different inventory categories